

CLIMATE MEDIA CENTRE

CPP Summit Media Spokesperson Training

2:00 – 5:30pm, Wednesday 18th October 2018
The Pavilion Kiama

This INVITATION ONLY session for Mayors, elected representatives / delegated media spokespeople will assist in messaging for media opportunities including:

- Policy or strategy launches
- Responding to climate disruption (eg extreme weather events)
- Climate solutions & new initiatives

Numbers are strictly limited so submit your request early to avoid disappointment. Prospective delegates will be asked to complete a pre-training survey outlining your previous experience to help with the session planning. Preference will be given to less experienced media performers or under-resourced councils.

RSVP to info@cppsummit.org.au

PROPOSED AGENDA

2:00-2:15pm	Welcome and introductions
2:15-2:45pm	How to communicate climate change Media 101
2:45-3:10pm	Team exercise - Key Messages
3:10-3:30pm	Afternoon tea
3:30 – 4:45pm	Individual interviewing practice
4:45pm	Group de-brief & wrap-up
5:30pm	Close

About the workshop leader

Liz Stephens is the Director of the Climate Media Centre , a not-for-profit PR agency and spokesperson bureau which trains everyday Australians feeling and seeing the impacts of climate change to be media spokespeople including farmers, fire fighters, and doctors. The Climate Media Centre has provided tailored training to hundreds of climate change communicators across Australia and generates more than 6,000 media items a year.

Liz has 15 years experience in government, strategy and public affairs including as Senior Media Advisor at the City of Sydney